BACKPACKING

Think backpacking is just for gap year students? Think again! More and more newlyweds are being lured by the temptation of truly independent travel, on a budget. If you love the idea of packing a bag, booking a flight and winging it, this is the honeymoon for you. Adventures, guaranteed!

BOOK IT!

★ Australia is a backpacking hotspot, and with its awesome cities, beautiful beaches, wild bushland and a welcoming, laid-back culture it's no surprise. Flights to Sydney from London take around 22 and a half hours, and prices start at around £600.

★ Thailand has so much to offer on a backpacking honeymoon. Accommodation and food is great value, so you might even be able to afford to splash out on a couple of nights in a swish hotel! Flights to Bangkok from London take around 11 hours and prices start at around £450.

★ Exploring Europe by train has to be one of the most romantic ideas, ever. Pick up an Interrail Global Pass, which gives you unlimited rail travel in up to 30 different European countries over 15 days, starting at £243pp. interrail.eu

LUXE ALL-INCLUSIVE

If the thought of an all-inclusive holiday conjures up images of dodgy Benidorm getaways (with even dodgier food), prepare to be very pleasantly surprised! All-inclusive has got a whole lot more luxurious and makes a perfect honeymoon choice for couples who want everything in one place and not have to worry about hidden extras.

BOOK IT!

★ Baraza Resort & Spa (barazanzanzibar.com) on the exotic island of Zanzibar, is a romantic destination for honeymooners looking for a once in a lifetime trip. Prices start from around £2,870 per couple for a seven-night stay in a two-bedroom Garden View Villa.

★ No one quite does all-inclusive like Sandals (sandals.co.uk). The glamorous Sandals Royal Bahamian, in the Bahamas, includes fine dining at any of the 10 gourmet restaurants, drinks at the eight bars, water sports, scuba diving and pretty much everything else you can think of! A seven-night stay starts at £2,499 per person.
